

Tuesday Seminars of Electoral Chairs

7 September - 21 December, 2021

- 7 September Are Citizens Tougher on Politicians Than Other Professions? Evidence from Survey Experiments in the United States and Canada
Jean-François Daoust (University of Edinburgh)
John McAndrews (University of Toronto)
Thomas Bergeron (University of Toronto)
Roosmarijn de Geus (University of Oxford)
Peter J. Loewen (University of Toronto)
- 14 September Follow mainly the leader? An experimental study of the relative impact of parties on opinion formation
Fernando Feitosa (McGill University)
Jennifer Oser (Ben-Gurion University)
Nir Grinberg (Ben-Gurion University)
- 28 September You can sort but don't polarize: How elite polarization shapes opinion formation
Semih Cakir (Université de Montréal)
- 5 October The Expertise Paradox: How Policy Expertise Can Hinder Responsiveness
Miguel Pereira (University of Southern California)
Patrik Öhberg (University of Gothenburg)
- 12 October The Effectiveness of Symbolic Group Appeals
Ruth Dassonneville (Université de Montréal)
- 19 October Les clivages politiques et le système partisan du Québec au XXI^e siècle
Éric Bélanger (McGill University)
Jean François Godbout (Université de Montréal)
- 26 October Voters' Preferences for Parties' Moral Rhetoric
Jae-Hee Jung (University of Houston)
- 2 November Do Voters Punish Women Politicians More?
Semra Sevi (Columbia University)
Charles Crabtree (Dartmouth College)
André Blais (Université de Montréal)
- 9 November Candidate Rhetorical Strategy and Perceptions of Sincerity
Elizabeth Simas (University of Houston)
Scott Clifford (University of Houston)

- 16 November How Fathers' Leave Shapes Attitudes Toward Gender Equality
Jonathan Homola (Rice University)
Petra Schleiter (University of Oxford)
Margit Tavits (Washington University in St. Louis)
Dalston Ward (ETH Zurich)
- 23 November Do people vote to avoid disapproval? A study of social norms and partisan pressure in Austria
Maxime Coulombe (Université de Montréal)
- 30 November Getting the most out of comparative vote switching data: A new framework for studying dynamic multi-party competition
Werner Krause (Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin)
Denis Cohen (MZES, University of Mannheim)
Tarik Abou-Chadi (University of Oxford)
- 7 December Polarization and the structure of multidimensional party competition in Europe
Jelle Koedam (University of Zurich)
Garret Binding (University of Zurich)
Marco Steenbergen (University of Zurich)
- 14 December Black Canadian Lives Matter in Public Opinion
Nadjim Fréchet (Université de Montréal)
- 21 December I'm a Loser? Unexpected Election Outcomes and Satisfaction with Democracy
Philippe Mongrain (Université de Montréal)

To obtain Zoom links, for more information, participation, or to receive weekly newsletter, contact Semih Çakır